Elder Perry spent his professional career in the retail business, serving as vice president and treasurer of companies located in Idaho, California, New York, and Massachusetts (where he also served as a stake president).

While working on the board of directors for American Stores, Elder Perry struck up a keen relationship with L. Sam Skaggs, who later generously funded the BYU library’s L. Tom Perry Special Collections to honor his inspiring friend.

Lee Perry jests about the bequest honoring his father: “His mother used to actually pay him to go to the library to check out books. . . . She would turn over in her grave if she knew there was a library named after him!”

In reality Elder Perry epitomizes how education can empower a person to give remarkable service to mankind. “The acquisition of knowledge,” he says, “is a fundamental part of the Lord’s eternal plan for His children.”

We are honored to have this beloved Apostle, a witness of our Savior, here today at our commencement services.
