Surgery wasn’t always the plan for Dr. Donald B. Doty. “I liked surgery, but I didn’t like surgeons very well,” recalls Doty of his early medical school days. It took an intelligent and humble mentor to change his opinion of a field he believed was full of overconfident doctors. After a forty-year career performing and teaching cardiovascular and thoracic surgery, Dr. Doty has mentored hundreds of surgeons of his own to become well-rounded doctors.

Dr. Doty graduated from Stanford University College of Medicine in 1962 and trained in general surgery at the Los Angeles County + USC Medical Center until 1967. He served as major in the U.S. Army Medical Corps from 1967 to 1969, assigned to the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research and the U.S. Army Surgical Research Team in Vietnam.

After his military service Dr. Doty specialized in cardiovascular and thoracic surgery at the University of Alabama Medical Center.

As a young medical school student, Doty met his future wife, Cheryl, while she was home for the summer from BYU. After two years of letter writing, phone calls, and visits between Provo and Palo Alto, California, they married in 1961. They have two sons. Some of Doty’s favorite memories when his children were young were the quiet conversations that were had on ski lift rides during the winters.

Early on in his medical career, Dr. Doty took on the roles of both surgeon and teacher. He has taught surgery at the University of Iowa College of Medicine and the University of Utah College of Medicine and has written four textbooks on cardiovascular surgery. He co-wrote Kirklin/Barratt-Boyes Cardiac Surgery, the definitive textbook in cardiac surgery. He is also the founding director of the annual Core Curriculum Review in Cardiovascular and Thoracic Surgery, the most popular and innovative review course for surgeons preparing for the Thoracic Surgery Board examination. Much of his teaching broadened the perspective of the young surgeons he taught. “When you get so super-specialized, often a lot of the most interesting things of medicine get neglected,” Dr. Doty says. “You become a technician instead of a real doctor.”

Dr. Doty has created a lifetime of Church service in many capacities, including bishop, stake president, regional representative, and area authority. After his retirement in 2004, he and his wife, Cheryl, served a nine-year mission chairing the Missionary Department Health Services—a role that brought many blessings. “Whenever you are serving somebody, the Lord blesses you,” says Doty. “The blessings are not tangible most of the time. They are the way you feel about yourself and about what you have done.”

For his great contribution to thoracic and cardiovascular surgery, for his generosity in sharing his skills in bettering the health of many, and for his faithful example as a Church leader, Brigham Young University is pleased to confer upon Donald B. Doty the degree of doctor of science and Christian service, honoris causa.
Elder Dallin Harris Oaks has served as a member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints since May 1984. As president of Brigham Young University for nine years—starting in 1971, just after the explosive expansion of the sixties—he led the university through a period of maturing, deepening, and refining and also the establishment of the J. Reuben Clark Law School.

He is a 1954 graduate of BYU, having majored in accounting. During his education at BYU he met and married June Dixon, who finished her degree at BYU in 1965. They had six children. She died in 1998, and in 2000 Elder Oaks married Kristen M. McMain, also a BYU alum (EdD, 1988).

After his graduation from BYU, Elder Oaks enrolled at the University of Chicago Law School, where he served as editor in chief of the law review. Following his graduation in 1957, he clerked for Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court. After several years of practicing law in Chicago, he served as a law professor at the University of Chicago until his appointment as president of Brigham Young University.

Elder Oaks has been an officer or member of the board of many business, educational, and charitable organizations, including five years as chairman of the board of directors of the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS). He is the author or coauthor of many books and articles on religious and legal subjects. In May 2013 the Becket Fund for Religious Liberty awarded him the Canterbury Medal for “courage in the defense of religious liberty.”

After his service at BYU, Elder Oaks served as a justice of the Utah Supreme Court from 1980 until he resigned in 1984 to accept his calling to the apostleship.

As a special witness of Jesus Christ, Elder Dallin H. Oaks has dedicated his life to the service of the Master. It is our honor to have him with us at today’s commencement exercises.
